The Museum thanks its major sponsors

The Armand Frappier Museum offers:

• Exhibits...

...to enrich the scientific culture of those who are seeking accurate information that is critical to developing a better understanding of biosciences and their related issues.

• Educational workshops...

...at the Museum, at school or at the library, to demystify life sciences and to present the roles they play and the significance of their advances.

• Scientific camps...

...to introduce 10-to-15-year-old kids to experimentation in microbiology, biotechnology and environmental science.

• Initiation to research programs...

...in collaboration with the INRS-Institut Armand-Frappier, to provide secondary 3, 4 and 5 students with greater knowledge and to kindle their interest in eventually pursuing scientific careers.

• Scientific conferences, discussions and cafés...

...to foster the exchange of knowledge between scientists and the public.
